Correspondence Lessons

For all instrumental, singing, songwriting and theory lessons.

Designed for especially busy students!

If you're unable to commit to regular weekly lessons, our multi talented teachers will still be able to provide you with their expert and quality teaching!

Introduction

With fewer, but flexible contact teaching hours and time made up through tuition-by-email, you can learn at the same pace, as if you were taking regular weekly lessons.

Our regular batches of four lessons are made up of 4x 30 minute lesson (a total of 120 minutes), 4x 45 minutes (a total of 180 minutes) or 4x 60 minutes (a total of 240 minutes).

Our Correspondence Lessons offer the same blocks of time that your teacher spends teaching you, but divided between contact lesson time and tuition-by-email.

Choose lesson times which suit you

When you have decided which block of time you would like, you can arrange, with your teacher, when you would like to schedule your contact lesson or lessons.

The Correspondence Lessons offer either one or two contact lessons, with the rest of the time made up through tuition-by-email.

Tuition-by-email

You can send material such as videos, audio recordings, scans or PDFs of theory papers, scores etc, for assessment, accompanied by typed notes and questions, to your teacher.

When your teacher begins spending time on the emailed correspondence (reviewing it, researching material to be sent back, responding, etc) they start counting the time they take.

With the tuition-by-email material that your teacher returns to you, they will also notify you of how much time is left in your block of time. You will then know exactly how much tuition-by-email time remains in your block.

For speed of production, your tuition-by-email from your teacher may take the form of videos and audio recordings. This media may make it faster for your teacher to record your tuition material, thus you will receive more tuition for your time. Scans or PDFs of marked theory papers, typed notes etc, may also be included.

Correspondence Lessons prices

Prices are the same as for the time you receive from your teacher, for regular batches of four lessons:

Terms

Each Correspondence Lessons package runs for one calendar month and is valid for one month only.

The month begins from the date that payment is made (eg. if you pay on 3rd October, the purchased block of time is valid until 3rd November).

Usually batches of Correspondence Lessons run from month to month.

No credit for time from one month may be carried over to the next month

Contact lessons can be pre-booked any time after payment is made, with arrangements made between your teacher and yourself. Contact lesson days and times are dependent on your teacher's availability.

You will receive lesson notes after a contact lesson, as usually supplied with regular lessons (within 24 hours of the contact lesson).

Tuition time by email is flexible and need not be pre-booked.

Once the lesson day/s/time/s are confirmed they are fixed and inflexible.

However, inflexibility of pre-booked lessons is up to the discretion of your teacher.

Your teacher might be able to reschedule a pre-booked lesson, if you are unable to attend, providing you give more than 24 hours' notice. But your teacher is not obliged to reschedule any pre-booked lessons.

A record of time for tuition-by-email, for each student, is kept by the teacher. Although you will be informed of how much time you have remaining, you may ask to view this at any time.

When your teacher begins spending time on the emailed correspondence (reviewing it, responding, researching material to be sent back etc) they begin to record that time they spend working.

Your teacher will return your tuition-by-email within 3 days of your sending material to them. You may contact your teacher and Tracy if your tuition-by-email is late for any reason.

Have fun learning with us and if you have any questions, please just ask!
